

We are glad you are considering International Adoption

Dillon International is committed:

- To helping you find answers to your adoption questions so you have the confidence to decide whether international adoption is the best choice for your family.
- To being transparent so you can trust us throughout the adoption process.
- To being available to address your questions and concerns in a sensitive and timely manner.
- To keeping you informed with accurate information about your child and your adoption process.
- To assisting you through the difficult "waiting times" with encouragement and compassion.

Hear what our families have to say:

"We did extensive research on other agencies, but no one made us feel as welcome as Dillon.

With Dillon, we immediately felt "These people really want to help us!" You were with us every step of the way. Our daughter is a gift from God and we cherish each moment with her! "Thank you" just doesn't seem to be enough to say. You are all very special people."

—Onderdonk Family, Hilton, N.Y.

"Thank you, Dillon, for giving us such a wonderful child and making our dreams come true.

Everyone was so courteous and helpful each time I called. It is obvious you love every one of your babies and you are a caring staff. If we ever decide to adopt again, we would definitely come back to you."

—Burns Family, Orange, Texas

"We loved the personal attention we were given through both of our adoptions and appreciate the life-long support "family" that we have through Dillon."

—Bryant Family, Tulsa, Okla.

"Your entire staff was so compassionate and always went the extra mile. You never grew impatient with us regardless of the number of questions."

—Law Family, Akron, Ohio

Why Choose Dillon International?

We are responsive to your family's needs.

We understand that your family has unique personal needs and desires. You may have experienced the heartbreak of infertility, the grief of multiple miscarriages, the disappointment of a failed adoption or you may have a sense that your family isn't complete yet and you are pursuing adoption as a means to add another child to your family.

As experienced adoption professionals, we know that the international adoption process can have some unexpected ups and downs, but your family can feel confident knowing that you are not alone in this journey when working with Dillon International.

No matter what your circumstances are, Dillon recognizes that you have an abundance of love to give a child!

It's All About the Children

Our Responsibility to Children

Dillon International has been a veteran in the international adoption field since 1972. Dillon is a tireless advocate for ethical adoption standards and for doing what's best for children who need hope for a better future. Dillon has earned long-standing, esteemed relationships with U.S. State Department and foreign government officials. As a Hague-accredited adoption agency, Dillon provides children and families with exceptional service that is a driving force for Dillon's staff.

Every effort is made to promote children remaining with their birth family or being placed through domestic adoption within their birth country. When these options are not possible, Dillon seeks to place orphaned children with loving, permanent families in the United States.

Through our affiliation with Buckner International, Dillon also serves orphans and vulnerable children across the world through humanitarian programs. These programs meet the educational, medical, therapeutic, and basic living needs of children who will one day be adopted as well as those who may never realize their dream of growing up in a family.

For Dillon International, it's all about the children.

Our Responsibility to Families

In order to achieve a positive and successful experience, Dillon offers a full range of services including home study services, dossier preparation and post-adoption support. Our caring staff is competent, compassionate and ready to help you navigate the international adoption landscape. We have helped more than 6,000 international children find their "forever families."

We would be honored to help you be a "forever family" for a child who is still waiting to be adopted.

Our Lifetime Commitment

Dillon International recognizes the ongoing unique needs of international adoptees and their families. Our adoption education prepares families for confident parenting through each stage of their child's development. Dillon's heritage camps and teen retreats help internationally adopted children learn about their birth heritage in a fun, enlightening manner that enhances adoptees' self-esteem. Dillon understands that adoptees desire a deeper connection with their birth country. Since 1989, Dillon has provided adoptee-focused birthland tours that allow adoptive families to experience first-hand their child's roots in an interactive, meaningful way. For older adoptees, Dillon provides search and intermediary services to seek information on foster and birth family members.

All of Dillon's services demonstrate our lifetime commitment to you and your child.
